JAMES D. TORREY, PRINTER, 13 SPRUCE STREET.

1860.

Where pieces are described, as to condition, &c., the description is accurate, and may be relied on. So great diversity of opinion exists as to the fineness of pieces that it has been thought best to leave a large majority of the Catalogue without note in that respect, that purchasers may form their own views by examination. Very many of the pieces not marked as fine, will be found in uncirculated or extra good condition, and it should not therefore be inferred of any piece because not marked fine, that it is in poor condition.
